

Town Hit By Tornado Faces Rebuilding Job

Total Death Toll Reaches Fifty-Nine

Warren, Ark., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Tornadoes, exploding chain-fashion across sections of Louisiana and Arkansas yesterday, left 59 persons dead and between 250 and 300 injured.

A number of communities—a dozen or more—in the neighboring southern states were hit, but the most violent twister developed in this lumber mill town of 7,500.

The Warren casualty list alone totaled 54 known dead, four of whom died of injuries in hospitals today. More than 250 of the injured were counted in this splintered town.

Two persons perished in northern Louisiana where a score or more were injured. Two died west of El Dorado, Ark., southwest of here, and another score were hurt.

A new storm came to light today with the death of Mrs. Dub Taylor of Grapevine, west of Pine Bluff. A storm was reported to have damaged several buildings there last night. Two persons were hurt at Dark Corner, northeast of Warren, during the storm here.

The storms began in Louisiana yesterday afternoon, lashed about until shortly before dinner-time, when they apparently combined and bore down on Warren with a full head of terrific, swirling winds, rain and hail.

After that the storm abated in fury, but dipped to earth at one or two more places.

Warren Mayor Jim Hurley predicted it would be years before his town recovered from the shock. However, disrupted utility services are being restored quickly.

About half the dead had been identified, or tentatively identified. Most of the bodies lay in a garage behind a funeral home and within line of survivors was permitted to view the bodies. It was a difficult task because some of them were mangled almost beyond recognition.

The mayor announced that at least 250 homes had been wiped out or damaged. The storm that thundered in from the direction of El Dorado, Ark., and northern Louisiana at 5:45 p.m. (CST) yesterday missed the business district, concentrating on residential and industrial areas in southern and eastern Warren. Hurley predicted damage would exceed $1,000,000.

Hard hit was the "milltown" section, where the huge Bradley Lumber Co., flooring mill and dwellings of many of its employees are situated. Timber in the plant was reduced to virtual matchwood. Many houses were blown away or smashed. It was in this section that most casualties occurred.

'Emergency' Rate Increases Pleaded For By Phone Co.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 4.—(AP)—Bell Telephone company entered a plea today for "emergency" rate increases.

Leslie M. Jones, Bell attorney, said that unless the utility was granted immediate relief from present "confiscatory" rates, the quantity and quality of its service would suffer.

Spokesmen for nearly 30 cities opposed the Bell request in oral arguments before the State Commerce Commission. They contended Bell had failed to supply proof that an emergency existed.

J. J. Danaher, assistant corporation counsel for the city of Chicago, said "something more than mere failure to realize a reasonable return must exist to warrant granting of an emergency increase."

The arguments were on Bell's petition for temporary rate boosts pending a decision on the request for permanent increases averaging 16 percent and totaling $34,100,000 a year.

The proposed higher charges would affect 323 communities in the state.

Rep. Sid Simpson Votes For Change In House Rule

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Rep. Sid Simpson (R-Ill.) bolted his party's leadership yesterday when the House voted 275 to 142 to curb the power of its rules committee. He joined twelve Illinois Democrats against eleven Republicans from the state in voting for the administration-sponsored new rule.

The Democrats voting for the change were Buckley, Chesney, Dawson, Gordon, Gorski, Linehan, Mack, O'Brien, O'Hara, Price, Sabath and Yates.

The Republicans who voted against: Allen, Arends, Bishop, Chipfield, Church, Hoffman, Jonas, McMillen, Reed, Velde, Vursell.

Worst Blizzard In Years Lashes At United States

By the Associated Press

Thousands of train passengers were marooned by a raging mid-continent blizzard Tuesday after rampaging winter raked the south with tornadoes and gave the California-Arizona citrus belts their worst killing freeze in years.

A blizzard stopped all major trains in two states and smothered highway travel in parts of Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming and Kansas.

The California freeze—worst in 35 years—threatened the rich orange and lemon crop with heavy damage. The coldest weather in 12 years in Arizona brought a ban against citrus picking in that state until freeze damage is determined.

The blizzard, whipped by winds of gale velocity, also killed livestock and halted some industrial operations. Old timers in South Dakota called it the "worst storm" they ever saw.

Forrestal Asks More Protection For Code Secrets

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Forrestal asked congress today to put a stronger legal guard around the government's top secrets.

He proposed an outright ban on publication, communication or use of codes and certain restricted information. As a further safeguard the defense boss also urged a clampdown on any information dealing with code machinery.

Forrestal said in a letter to House Speaker Rayburn that existing legislation is "far too limited in application to afford needed protection to certain highly secret government activities."

He suggested that violators of the proposed security law be punished by fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to ten years, or both.

Forrestal's proposal pointed up recent testimony by Whittaker Chambers, confessed Communist courier, that a pre-war Red spy ring fished State Department documents. Members of the House un-American activities committee who questioned Chambers have expressed the opinion that Kremlin agents thus were enabled to crack the prized State Department codes used in that period.

Democracy Rising Against Commies In Europe: Royall

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Secretary of the Army Royall said today the forces of democracy are definitely on the rise against communism in Europe.

As for the possibility of armed conflict, Royall told newsmen: "I stated last fall I believe that war was not imminent. I am still of that opinion."

The army's civilian chief, newly returned from a three-week inspection swing in Europe, brought some good news to taxpayers who have been shouldering the burden of European recovery.

Army relief costs in Germany are dropping, he said, because of the improved situation there, and the army expects to have $50,000,000 earmarked for German food left over when the fiscal year ends next June 30.

Will Begin Census Of Wildfowl Soon

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—North America's ducks and geese face a special hunting season next week—out the hunters will be armed with tabulation machines instead of guns.

Cecil Williams, chief of migratory waterfowl investigations for the fish and wildlife service, said the fifteenth annual inventory of waterfowl will take place Jan. 11 to 14.

About 1,300 trained observers will do the counting at the birds' wintering grounds from Alaska to Guatemala. The Canadian and Mexican governments are cooperating in the census.

For the last two years the waterfowl population has remained at almost 54,000,000 birds.

Ailing King Takes Automobile Ride

London, Jan. 4.—(AP)—King George VI left Buckingham Palace today for the first time since Nov. 11.

Muffled heavily against the misty chill, the monarch and the queen took an unheralded automobile ride. Most spectators, even at the Victoria Memorial where traffic was halted to let the royal car pass, did not recognize them.

Attending physicians said this week the king could engage in "limited activity" because of progress in his recovery from an ailment of the arteries in his legs.

First trackless trolley was put into operation in 1910 in Hollywood's Laurel Canyon section.

President Truman To Give State Of Union Talk Today

Chinese 'Peace Offensive' Stalls Before Wall Of Communist Silence

Shanghai, Jan. 4.—(AP)—The Chinese government's "peace offensive" appeared stalled today against a wall of communist silence.

From the government side came a rising clamor for a truce and a negotiated settlement. The communists, who have been winning the civil war, said nothing.

Nanking reported growing anxiety among Chinese who had predicted a quick communist response to President Chiang Kai-Shek's new year offer to negotiate.

Neutral observers in Nanking predicted the communist answer would be a demand that the government armies—not the Red armies—lay down their arms.

A usually-informed source in Nanking said government war planes dropped leaflets over communist lines urging the Red soldiers to quit fighting so peace talks could begin. (There was little fighting anyway. The communist radio in north China again made no mention of the government peace offer.

It said that communist artillery was moving into the suburbs of Beijing and Tientsin in the north. On the central front it asserted whole battalions of the long-circled Suchow garrison were surrendering. The broadcast was heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco.

The official Central News Agency said peoples councils and other representatives of 29 provinces and cities had sent appeals to communist leader Mao Tse-Tung to order a cease fire and open peace talks.

Meanwhile, Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of U.S. naval forces in the western Pacific denied rumors of a withdrawal of "American forces from China."

In a statement from the fleet anchorage at Tsingtao, he said "the rumors were based on reports the marines had terminated their lease on Shantung University campus, where they maintain their barracks."

Badger said discussions had begun with the Chinese ministry of education as to "the feasibility of returning the campus to the university for educational purposes."

The admiral said he ordered the discussions halted when he learned they were being used as a basis for withdrawal rumors.

An American source in Shanghai in a position to know said the earlier withdrawal report "isn't wrong—it's just premature."

(The earlier report was based on a dispatch from the Associated Press correspondent at Tsingtao. This said 3,000 U.S. marines would be "pulled aboard naval vessels" to await further orders.)

Their action in awarding themselves eight places on the foreign relations committee, as against five for the Republicans, drew immediate protests from the GOP. During the last two years, under Republican control, the ratio was seven Republicans to six Democrats.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), former chairman of this committee, and a leader of bi-partisan foreign policy, said the Democrats' action "I think it is regrettable and not particularly impressive in its bi-partisan hospitality."

Democrats said that under the law they are entitled to wider control of more committees because they have a larger majority. There are 34 Democrats to 42 Republicans in the new senate. Last year there were 51 Republicans and 45 Democrats. The law says the minority party must have two committee posts for each senator, but the majority can determine the margin of control on the various committees.

The Soviet propaganda line was that the deadline of last Dec. 31 was dependent on a plan of reparation to be worked out through the four-power Berlin Allied control council. Efforts to work out details collapsed there later.

Michael McDermott, state department press officer, replied to the Tass convention today by quoting from the earlier Moscow agreement. It stated flatly that the four powers—the U.S., Russia, Britain and France—agreed "German prisoners of war will be returned to Germany by Dec. 31, 1948."

However, state treasurer Richard Yates Rowe reported today that the general fund—from which most current bills are met—was $9,016,000 slimmer than at the start of 1948.

The decline came in the face of record receipts from the two percent state sales tax, the main source of general revenue.

The sales levy brought in $167,580,345 during 1948, or some $15,000,000 more than in 1947.

Collections for the three months ended last Dec. 31 fell $152,000 below sales levy income for the corresponding 1947 period. A slump in dollar volume of retail sales apparently accounted for the final quarter decrease.

German War Bride Jails Husband For Non-Support

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 4.—(AP)—A German war bride had her soldier husband jailed for non-support today, eight days after her arrival in the United States.

Disagreement between Pvt. Donald Smith, 20, and his Auburn-haired wife, Viola, 21, came to a head in the county courthouse after a scene in which she fled from him and sobbed to deputy sheriffs that Smith was trying to get rid of her.

The Smiths, who were married two months ago in Berlin, were taken before county judge Irwin Taylor.

The soldier told the judge he had come to the courthouse to obtain information on how to deport his wife and her two-year-old daughter, Jeanette.

Mrs. Smith said her husband had ordered her to leave his home. The courtroom discussion ended with the bride signing a non-support warrant against Smith. He was jailed to await hearing in the non-support case Feb. 14. Mrs. Smith and her daughter were placed in the care of Mrs. Pearl McCorkie, court probation officer.

Honolulu, Jan. 4.—(AP)—Distance Flier Bill Odom cancelled again today the takeoff of his projected Hawaii to New York nonstop flight in a small Beechcraft Bonanza plane. Odom, who hopes to set a distance record for small planes, has been waiting several days for a break in the weather.

Expects Good Support From 81st Congress

Washington, Jan. 4.—(AP)—President Truman will tell the nation about the "State of the Union" tomorrow in a 30-minute address before the new 81st Congress—and even some Republicans seem inclined to go along with his program.

The president's speech, starting at noon, CST, will be carried over the four major radio networks.

Quoted by a smashing victory in their first test of strength on Capitol Hill yesterday, administration officials looked for no such obstacles as blocked Mr. Truman's legislative proposals in the Republican-controlled 80th congress during the last two years.

Rayburn Optimistic

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) expressed this view with dry humor to newsmen today. "The Texas, who relishes understatement, said he thinks Mr. Truman's recommendations will be received by congress "with considerable favor."

Rayburn declined to predict what President Truman will ask in his annual message to the lawmakers. He did indicate, however, some of his own views on the controversial topic of the Taft-Hartley law.

In his election speeches last fall, Mr. Truman committed himself to repeal of the Taft-Hartley measure which has been so bitterly attacked by labor leaders.

Rayburn predicted to reporters today, in his first news conference since he was elected to the house leadership, that he believes congress will substitute some new legislation for that law.

Won't Ban Labor Legislation

"I should not think the congress would pass a bill repealing all labor legislation and enact nothing in its stead," he said.

Some other speculation on Capitol Hill has centered on the possibility of repealing the Taft-Hartley act and leaving the old Wagner labor regulations law intact.

Rayburn also told newsmen that so far there has been no high-level discussion on the future of the House Un-American Activities Committee. The best guess seemed to be that the committee's major role will be hunting and communist exposures would continue in some form, most likely with a soft pedal on sensationalism and a tight code to govern the conduct of individual committee members.

While Rayburn shied at forecasting any specific points in the president's address, other legislators expected Mr. Truman to throw out a rapid-fire list of recommendations, notably including a minimum-wage boost, health, education, anti-monopoly and housing legislation, farm price supports, and extension of the reciprocal trade program. Protection of minority groups against discrimination may also figure in his proposals.

Still Silent On Taxes

Still a tight-held secret was Mr. Truman's decision on a possible request for higher taxes and price controls.

Some congressmen believed the recent down-trend in prices might cause Mr. Truman to postpone, at least temporarily, any demand for rigid inflation controls.

The president will discuss the economic situation in a message to congress Friday. Later he will go into his foreign program which may include proposals to help arm Europe and align this country in a military defense pact with the non-communist western nations.

Although far from veiled on most subjects, Rayburn spoke at some length on one subject: A salary boost for Mr. Truman himself.

Rayburn said he "certainly" thinks congress will act before the Jan. 20 deadline to give the president more pay—or at least increase "the emoluments of his office."

Under the constitution, no president may receive a salary increase after his inauguration.

Jerseyville—The marriage of Miss Catherine McDonough of St. Louis and M. A. Curran of Jerseyville, both members of the faculty of the Jerseyville Grade school, took place at 9 a. m. Dec. 28 at the Immaculate Conception church in St. Louis. The Rev. M. J. Sullivan officiated at the single-ring ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial Mass which followed.

The bridesmaid's suit was of dark green, with which she used accessories to correspond. Her corsage was composed of red gloriosas.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served the bridal party and immediate relatives at the Gatesworth hotel in St. Louis.

The former Miss McDonough is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. McDonough of Carrollton. She attended Illinois State Normal university and St. Louis university and has taught in the Jerseyville schools for a number of years.

Bloomington Man Praises Relief From Long Suffering

Mr. R. B. Powell, 1013 1/2 N. Park St., gets relief from Rentox after other medicines fail to help

"Rentox is a wonderful medicine" writes Mr. Powell. "For the last three years I have been troubled with getting up three or four times each night. The last sleep has made me feel groggy and I have had no pep. My bowels were not regular and I suffered from gas pains. Often I had dizzy spells which made walking difficult but the sleepless nights troubled me the most as I was always tired out. For relief I have tried almost every medicine on the market with no success. I read an advertisement on Rentox and decided to try it as a last resort. Almost immediately I noticed that my appetite was returning and I began to sleep soundly for the first time in a long while. Now my bowels are regular and the dizzy spells have left me. I enjoy my meals, get a good night's sleep and have regained my pep."

Why Continue to Suffer? Why suffer the pains and discomfort caused by the accumulation of poisons in your system when you can get quick relief just as hundreds of others have? Rentox goes to work quickly to relieve the system of toxic poisons which may have been present for weeks and months. Rentox will tone your bowels into a more rhythmic action, expel gas and bloated, end sleepless nights by relieving kidney and gall bladder trouble, and restore lost appetite so that you will once more have a real zest for food. Many people have gotten relief from the nagging pains of rheumatism and arthritis with this splendid general medicine. Rentox will restore your system to a healthy condition and make you less susceptible to colds, coughs and sore throat. More Than 2,000 Ardent Youths Give Portland Only Big City 4-H

By Richard Kleiner
NEA Staff Correspondent

Chicago—(NEA)—"When I think about juvenile delinquency, I wish we had 4-H clubs in the big cities," Mayor Martin H. Kennelly told 1800 4-H'ers gathered here for the organization's annual Congress.

Apparently His Honor did not know that, though the 4-H movement is mostly rural, there is one major American city that has its own thriving 4-H club. Three members of the Mayors audience were from that club, and two of them became national champions.

Portland, Ore., is the only city that has a 4-H organization corresponding with those in rural counties, complete with its own "county club agent," who is Ed L. Shannon, the city department of education's supervisor of club work. The Portland set-up is operated cooperatively by the city school system and the Oregon State Agricultural College.

The club thrives. It is so successful that it provided three of the state's 17 delegates to the Congress here. One won the national championship in clothing, one in home grounds beautification. Another won honors in food preparation.

The Portland system is based on the local elementary school. The Parent-Teachers Associations provide leaders—some parents, others teachers. All have special education or skill in some branch of 4-H Club work.

Portland boys and girls do not go in for raising livestock or growing field crops. There is no room in their backyards, and there are city ordinances against tending city-owned cow pastures.

But there is no law against raising chickens or rabbits, so those projects are popular. Another common project is growing flowers, particularly roses. Portland is one of the Raising chickens is 4-H club member Eleanor Chapman's hobby. She is a typical 4-H'er who lives on a farm in Centerville, O., but the organization has invaded Portland to get its first big-city foothold.

most rose-conscious cities in America, taking great pride in its Rose Festival each June. The Rose and Flower project is as popular with the boys as with the girls.

The girls, of course, go in for home economics work, just as their fellow-members from the farm country do. Canning, cooking, sewing, and the like find eager devotees among Portland 4-H girls.

The boys favor poultry and rabbit raising; forestry clubs; dock and mineral groups, learning to identify geological specimens; and the arts and crafts work, making things from brass, leather and wood.

Each elementary school in the city has a volunteer 4-H chairman, usually one of the mothers. It takes five youngsters to form a "standard" club, devoted to a specialized project like canning.

School facilities are rarely used. When special equipment is called for, as in woodworking, a leader's basement usually is the base of operations. Otherwise each child works in his own home.

Youngsters of high school age form senior clubs, and also serve as junior leaders in their own neighborhoods.

The booming 4-H club in Portland now boasts some 200 leaders and more than 2000 active members. An advisory council of business and professional leaders helps with the overall organizational aspects.

The present arrangement is a direct outcome of World War I Victory Gardens, grown by children under supervision of teachers who had gardening experience. Interest in such work persisted long after the need had ended. The 4-H tie-up eventually welded the many units into one efficient group.

Club leader Shannon thinks Mayor Kennelly is right about juvenile delinquency. He cites the findings of a Portland 4-H alumni, now a member of the city's police force. He's interviewed every delinquent coming to the police department's attention, and he's never seen a 4-H boy or girl in trouble.

Asks More Room For Bus Stops In Business Section

Alderman Costello believes city buses should have room to pull to the curb to take on and discharge passengers in the business district, and not be forced to stop in traffic lanes. He told the council Monday night that space for bus stops could be provided by removing one parking meter near certain intersections, stopping in the middle of the street to let passengers on and off. Costello said, "This slows up traffic and is also dangerous for people who are getting on and off buses."

His suggestions led to a discussion. While no formal action was taken, councilmen favored a study of the situation with possible changes in the business district.

The council opened three bids for a Fordson tractor which has been stored back of the city hall for a number of months since it was damaged in a plunge from the Lake Mauvais terrace spillway. The bids were read by City Clerk Phillips.

Highest bid of the three was submitted by H. Mattson and Son of Jacksonville route six, who offered $235 for the tractor. Other bids ranged down to $201.50. On motion of Alderman Flynn, seconded by Alderman Baker, the council voted to accept the bid of Mr. Mattson.

City Clerk Phillips reported receipts of $1,149.42 in his office during December. Rentals from municipal property accounted for $406 of that amount, while pavement opening permits brought in $199.50.

Transfer Water Funds
Alderman Baker presented a resolution directing the transfer of $553.77 from Water Construction Account No. 1 to Account No. 2, and $431.36 from the Water Dept. Special Account to Water Construction Account No. 2. The resolution was passed on motion of Alderman Flynn, seconded by Alderman Weaver.

A report of the garage committee for December, submitted by Alderman Henderson, showed that city-owned vehicles used 760 gallons of gasoline and 56 quarts of oil in December.

Mayor Hoagland said he has received several requests for signs to regulate traffic at the intersection of North Prairie street and West Independence avenue, and recommended that the highway committee study the problem.

The council also discussed a problem involving a vacant lot near the corner of Morgan and East streets, where parked cars pull over the sidewalk, depositing large chunks of mud. The sidewalk has been broken by cars or trucks leaving the lot.

A RUNDOWN DEER

Sutton, N. D.—P—Most North Dakota hunters kill their deer by the conventional method—with a gun. But not Kenneth Leiminger of Sutton.

He was enroute to a friend's home in a nearby town to pick up a rifle on the opening day of the season when a deer suddenly scampered in front of his car.

The deer slipped on the icy road. Leiminger's car also slipped, plunging into the animal. Leiminger whisked out a hunting knife and slit the deer's throat.

Dr. Mary Johnston Leads Great Books Discussion Monday

Dr. Mary Johnston, professor of Latin at MacMurray college, was guest leader for the Great Books seminar at the Public Library Monday evening, January 3, when the discussion was based on the comedies of Aristophanes, with emphasis on Lysistrata, satirizing the motives of men and the attitudes of women in war. Birds, ridiculing the politicians of the time and the Athenians who permitted them to hold office, and Clouds, making fun of modern education, all executed in a surprisingly modern spirit.

Aristotle's Ethics, Book I, will provide the basis for discussion at the next meeting on January 17 at 7 o'clock at the Public Library, when Dr. Malcolm Stewart will be the guest leader.

Reprints of the material used for basic reading, together with articles about the study of the Great Books are available at the library, and anyone interested in taking part in the discussion may obtain information or do their reading there.

New York Stock Market

New York, Jan. 4.—(P)—The stock market barely maintained headway today following yesterday's setback. Gains were in the majority but they were small and a handful of issues either fell back a trifle or held unchanged.

Business was unusually slack. Turnover was the rate of 650,000 shares for the full session, which would be the smallest full day since less than 500,000 shares changed hands on Aug. 16.

The general reluctance of traders to get into the market on any scale was credited to a desire to wait and hear what the president says tomorrow in his state of the union message to Congress.

Others leaning ahead included

U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Distillers Corp., American Telephone, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak, Superior Oil of California, Paramount Pictures, and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Checks Out, Bankers In For Father's Spring Suit By NEA Service New York.—(NEA)—Apparently Man—the male branch—has given up any notions he had of becoming a peacock. After flirting for a while with gaudy raiment, the Wool Council says that men have fled back into the conservatism that used to feature their clothing. For a while it looked as though Man had decided to imitate the lower animals, and the birds, and to make himself more gorgeous than his womenfolk. He tried out gay patterned fabrics that needed no loud-speakers to make themselves heard; he tried lapel-less coats, and trousers full of pleats; he tried pinched waists, zoot pants, noisy plaids. Now he's returning to normal. For the spring of 1949 he's going conservative. He is asking and getting flannels, medium-weight tweeds, sleek worsteds, all in restrained patterns. He's returning to the vest, maybe because he finds he needs its pocket space, and with it he's swinging toward the single-breasted coat. "The general impression," the Council remarks, "is that everyone wants to look like a banker, or at least like the model of a responsible family man." The only novelty that is gaining favor is the old reliable patch pocket on spring and summer suits. Gray and green find their fanciers, but the Council says that blue, in disfavor for several years is so popular it's almost becoming a uniform. The new necks are straight-hanging, with shoulders "modestly square and masculine"—whatever that may be—and hips "what the boys call the 'hacking' coat with favor. Gray flannels are coming back—but a few die-hard young fellows are bucking same trend. Curvaceously shaped bodies are giving way to loose, easy more-like woollens. Springtime (1949) for the American Male: The Wool Council says everybody wants to look like a banker. In sports clothes shoulders are narrower, coats are longer with either one center-back or two side vents, and even chaps who wouldn't know a horse from a mule are eyeing slender. The chest is full, but not the "hacking" coat with favor. Gray flannels are coming back—but a few die-hard young fellows are bucking same trend. Curvaceously shaped bodies are giving way to loose, easy more-like woollens.

Heath, Nevada U. Passing Ace, Signs With Green Bay

Los Angeles, Jan. 4.—(P)—Stan Heath, college football's No. one passer in 1948, has signed a contract to play this year with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Curley Lambeau, coach of the Packers said today Heath mailed in his contract from San Diego, where he is recuperating from rib injuries sustained in the Harbor Bowl game against Villanova.

Heath, who had a standout season with the University of Nevada, was Green Bay's No. one draft choice. He's six feet, one inch tall, weighs 190, and played a year with Wisconsin before he went to Nevada. He played his high school football in Milwaukee and will make his home there.

Heath gained 2,013 yards for Nevada by passing last season.

NCAA Picks Lieb As 'Football's Man Of Year'

San Francisco, Jan. 4.—(P)—Dr. Karl E. Lieb, president of the national collegiate athletic association, is "football's man of the year" for 1948.

Selection of the gray haired professor of commerce at the University of Iowa for the honor by the football writers association of America was announced here today by Bert McGraw of Des Moines, Iowa, secretary of the writers' organization.

Dr. Lieb is here presiding over the annual meeting of the N.C.A.A. The latest man-of-the-year award winner helped formulate the N.C.A.A. "sanity code," which is expected to serve as a model for the regulation of all collegiate athletics. His interest in football dates back to his undergraduate years at Stanford. He once served on the University of Washington faculty.

Dr. Lieb succeeds Fritz Crisler, director of athletics at the University of Michigan and former coach of the Wolverines. Earlier winners were William M. Coffman, head of the San Francisco east-west game; Cmdr. Tom Hamilton, then of Navy; A. A. Stagg while at college of the Pacific; Bo McMillan, former University of Indiana coach and the late Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner.

Campus Calendar

Mars Wildcats Homecoming

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 4.—(P)—Northwestern's Wildcats, who tumbled California in the Rose Bowl, today had their homecoming thrown for a loss by the campus calendar.

It was the beginning of the second term after the Christmas vacation and after a victory celebration was brewing it was on a slow fire. A threatened student walkout on classes failed to materialize.

There was some shouting and picture-taking at the Dearborn street station this morning, but the sleepy-eyed graders were serenaded by only several hundred of the school's more loyal fans.

Then, they were whisked—in three busses with an un-needed police escort—through muggy, foggy weather 12 miles to Patten gym. On the gym steps were a dozen or so greeters.

That's all there was to the homecoming which also suffered because the Wildcat 144-piece band, traveling on a different railroad, was stranded by a blizzard in Cheyenne, Wyo.

The Wildcats paid homage to California as a strong, well-coached team. They insisted to a man that Fullback Art Murakowski scored before he fumbled on the second Wildcat touchdown; and guessed that superior blocking was the victory difference.

Chandlerville Upsets Ashland At Virginia, Chambersburg Wins

Games Tonight
Athens vs. Pleasant Plains, 7:15 p.m.
Virginia vs. Bath, 8:30 p.m.

The unpredictable Chandlerville cagers upset a highly favored Ashland quintet in the first round of the Virginia tourney last night by a 41 to 36 tally. Chambersburg romped to a 51 to 28 win over Astoria in the other first round contest.

Ashland, who had been rated the number-four team in this match, fell behind the fighting Chandlerville crew after the opening gun and were never able to gain their stride against their hard-pressing opponents. Scoring was very even on the Comet outfit, with Johnson's 10 markers heading the winners' scoring parade. Bergschneider, Ashland center, led the losers with 12 tallies.

Chambersburg Five Wins
Chambersburg, rated the second team in the tourney, had little trouble with Astoria in coping their 51 to 28 victory in the other first round bout last night.

Astoria managed to stay in the game for the first two quarters, with Chambersburg holding only a 18 to 14 advantage at half time, but the favorites turned on the steam in the last half to roll up a tremendous lead and win the contest going away. Jackson got 17 points for the winners, with Blumfield heading Astoria's hit parade with 9 markers.

Jaywalkers Will Soon Face Fines In St. Louis

St. Louis, Jan. 4.—(P)—The jaywalking pedestrian may soon have to curb his tendencies to meander into the street when and where he chooses.

City officials, the police department and the city's safety council yesterday appeared a little annoyed at the 1948 traffic death total. So the board of aldermen probably will get an ordinance prohibiting jaywalking.

"Pedestrians bore the brunt of our 1948 traffic toll," said Robert Brooks, president of the safety council. "St. Louis has no pedestrian protection ordinance, so many pedestrians pay no attention to traffic officers' signals and lights."

The council's secretary said the city ranked 10th in traffic safety among 12 major communities and that careless pedestrians played a major role in the poor showing.

Among the offenses expected to be subjected to fines are crossing against a traffic light or policeman's signal, midblock crossing in congested areas, and diagonal crossings.

Unarmed Woman Robs Frisco Bank

San Francisco, Jan. 4.—(P)—A series of six bank robberies disturbed police today, especially the latest by an apparently unarmed woman.

She showed a threatening note through Teller John Zobel's window yesterday and made off unnoticed except by Zobel with $2,666 from a downtown branch of the Bank of America.

It was the sixth such holdup here in four months but the first by a woman.

BRITISH TABULATE WAR BIRTHS
London — (P)— Britain, slowly catching up on war-interrupted reports of vital statistics, reports its birthrate reached in 1943 its highest level in 13 years.

Simultaneously, there were 296,432 marriages during that year—the lowest number since 1926 when they totaled 279,860.

Jaywalkers Will Soon Face Fines In St. Louis

St. Louis, Jan. 4.—(P)—The jaywalking pedestrian may soon have to curb his tendencies to meander into the street when and where he chooses.

City officials, the police department and the city's safety council yesterday appeared a little annoyed at the 1948 traffic death total. So the board of aldermen probably will get an ordinance prohibiting jaywalking.

"Pedestrians bore the brunt of our 1948 traffic toll," said Robert Brooks, president of the safety council. "St. Louis has no pedestrian protection ordinance, so many pedestrians pay no attention to traffic officers' signals and lights."

The council's secretary said the city ranked 10th in traffic safety among 12 major communities and that careless pedestrians played a major role in the poor showing.

Among the offenses expected to be subjected to fines are crossing against a traffic light or policeman's signal, midblock crossing in congested areas, and diagonal crossings.

Beware of Romance

By Roberta Courtland

THE STORY: When sixteen-year-old Merry Carson learns that her dashing father, Kin, has asked her sedate mother, Susan, for a divorce, her whole world turns topsy-turvy. Kin leaves home and Susan goes to pieces. Aunt Jane comes to look after things. The doctor advises a change for Susan and she takes her to St. Vincent's, an island resort. Here Susan buys a house from Carter Bagby's Carter treats her gallantly and Susan begins to perk up. Merry goes to spend a couple of days with her father in their home town. She sees Tip Kennedy again but tells him she still doesn't believe in marriage, after what happened to her parents. Her father warns her not to let this influence her life.

The waiter came then, and Kin dropped into light talk. When lunch was over he took her hand in his and suggested, "And now come along and see your birthday present. Tip helped me find it, and we both hope very much you'll like it."

Outside in the hot June sunshine, with the hotel doorfan standing proudly beside it, was a jade-green convertible, its green paint shining, its khaki-colored top looking fresh and new, its chromium trim twinkling gaily. Kin handed her the keys while Merry stood still, staring at the car, wide-eyed, breathless, unable to speak for a moment.

"Like it, chick?" asked Kin eagerly.

"Oh, Dad, it's beautiful, it's scrumptuous, it's fantastic!" She flung herself into his arms and clung to him, laughing and weeping for joy. And Kin, knowing the deep measure of her delight, laughed and put her into the car and got in beside her.

"First we'll get your driver's license. I know you drive well, because I know Andrew taught you. And tomorrow morning, if you like, you and I will drive to Jacksonville. I can get the plane there as easily as here, and it will be only 80 miles back to St. Vincent's."

JEFF LAYNE was waiting for them when they returned to the hotel, and he bore Kin off to attend to some business details that had to be settled, and Merry went on upstairs to her own room.

She dreaded the party the "gang" was having for her that night, but she dressed for it more carefully than she had ever dressed before. It was, somehow, desperately important that she should look her very prettiest.

Tip arrived promptly, and when the telephone rang announcing his arrival, Kin still had not returned. She left a note for him on his bureau and went down, slim and proud and very pretty in her cornflower blue frock with her shining hair swept up into a soft knot of curls at the top of her proudly held head.

The party was, of course, at Teen Tavern and the moment Merry arrived, she was surrounded by the old crowd.

She was relieved that no one seemed to want to discuss the break-up of her family, or was the least bit curious about how things were going; and when some of the group assured her happily that their families would be at St. Vincent's for the summer months, she welcomed the news with delight.

"I'm getting two weeks' vacation, Merry," Tip told her as they danced to the blaring music of the juke box. "Mind if I spend it at St. Vincent's?"

"Oh, do, Tip—spend it with us at Cielito Lindo!"

"Thanks, that's swell, Merry, but there's a bunch coming down and we've got a cottage together. But we'll see a lot of each other, if you don't mind."

"Mind, you goop? Don't you know how tickled plumb silly I'll be to see you?"

Tip's smile vanished and his arm tightened.

"Will you, Merry?" he asked softly.

"Of course, Tip. You are my very best friend—always."

Tip said dryly, "Well, I'm grateful for small favors, and I can always hope for larger ones."

And that she would not answer, lest somehow she say more than she dared say.

Congressmen Introduce 90% Parity Price Bill

By Francis M. Le May
Washington, Jan. 4.—(P)—A bipartisan drive developed in the house today to peg the price supports of six basic farm crops at 90 per cent of parity.

Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) introduced a bill to repeal the new farm law which permits these price props to drop as low as 60 per cent, if surpluses accumulate. The sliding price scale adopted by the 80th congress is due to go into effect next year.

Simultaneously, Rep. Cooley (D-NC.), who is due to head the house agriculture committee, told reporters he wants the basic crops supported at 90 per cent, provided farmers accept "reasonable" production controls to prevent huge price-depressing surpluses.

Iowan Favors Floor
The repeal move won immediate support from Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa), who said he favors a parity floor of "no less than 90 per cent" for the basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, peanuts and rice.

Rep. Hope, (R-Kas) retiring agriculture committee chairman said the farm legislation enacted by this last congress "needs a restudy." He did not indicate his stand on the parity issue.

"Parity is a price standard for farm commodities calculated to be equally fair to farmers and consumers."

Under the sliding support system set up by the new farm law, the price drops would range high in times of scarcity to four production, and low when the crops were abundant to discourage market-glutting surpluses.

Terms Law Unfair
Cooley said this plan protects the farmer most when he needs help the least and least when he needs it the most.

In offering his bill, Pace said: "The farmers, who produce the food for the remainder of the population, feel that they are entitled to that same degree of security and protection as is enjoyed by the people who eat the food."

"It is strange that at the very time congress is considering an increase in the working man's minimum wage from 40 cents an hour to 75 cents, the congress would pass a law permitting the farmer's support price on basic crops to go as low as 60 per cent of parity."

"I don't know of anything which would assure a serious depression, as quickly and certainly as the putting into effect of this farm law. When conditions are prosperous on the farms the nation enjoys prosperity—where farm prices go down the economy of the nation follows."
